No C 1311/28-29 of 7-12-28

Requests that steps may be taken to amend the Village Panchayat Regn so as to permit Village Panchayets enforcing contribution of weekly labor with option in special cases to change it into a rate of 4 annas per day at the option of the payee concerned.

1 The Rev commr suggests the advisability of amending the V. P. Regn so that Village Panchayets may enforce contribution of weekly labour. Ina Section 37 of the V. P. Regn Village Panchayets may now commute ~~demand~~ not more than 18 days' labour for a year the payment towards a tax etc that may be optionally levied by them.

2 The proposal involves demand of labour once a week from villagers compulsorarily or a levy of a tax at the rate of 4 annas ~~per day~~ per each week. Perhaps the views of the Deputy commrs and of the Note on Weekly Labour in Village Panchayets.

17 The Revenue Commissioner in his letter No.C.1311 dated 7th December 1928, reported that some Panchayets in the Tumkur and Kolar Districts framed definite programmes of work and induced the villagers to contribute half a day's labour on Mondays every week and that the Deputy Commissioner, Kolar has also issued a circular dated the 14th February 1928 in the matter of enforcing weekly labour and levying a fine not exceeding 3 annas per day from those who do not contribute such labour. He has also stated that with a view to enable the Panchayets to adhere to their programmes and in the interests of village improvement, Section 37 of the Village Panchayet Regulation may be amended so as to enforce contribution of weekly labour with option in special cases to change it into a rate of four annas per day at the option of the persons concerned.

18 Section 37 of the Village Panchayet Regulation lays down that a Panchayet may levy any tax, cess etc, for the discharge of any of its duties entrusted to it, provided that it is agreed to by 2/3rds of the members constituting the Panchayet. The Village Panchayet may also commute for not more than 18 days labour in a year the payment towards a tax etc, that may be optionally optionally levied by them. Rules are also prescribed in this behalf (Vide page 29 of the Village Panchayet Manual.). The addition of the following section to Section 37 of the Regulation is accordingly suggested for consideration :-

" subject to such rules as may be framed by the Government, every owner of a house residing in a village Panchayet area shall contribute labour for not more than one day every week towards works of communal benefit as may be determined by the Panchayet, provided that the Panchayet may in proper cases excuse such absence and allow payment instead of a rate not exceeding four annas for every such day."

L.S.G. 13/5

General Secretary:

There is little doubt that the improvement of our villages is intimately bound up with the strict enforcement of the system of weekly labour. I have impressed this aspect on members of Panchayets and others during my tours in the districts. The present rules on the subject, however, seem to me to be defective in that a large proportion of the villagers can escape without contribution to the Village Improvement Work in the shape of either labour or cash. For example, in the Chitaldru District, I noticed that in a fairly good village like Parasurampur where a decent amount of work had been turned out by the villagers, only 150 out of a little over 500 people used to turn up for Monday labour. It should not be possible for so many to escape from doing their share of weekly labour.

The Village Panchayet Regulation does not empower the Panchayet directly to exact weekly labour from all the villagers. But, Section 6 enables it to impose "optional taxes" amounting nearly to Rs6-4-0 and those who want exemption from such taxation can only obtain it by contributing weekly labour. It seems to me that the best way of enforcing their responsibility upon all the people is to get all the Village Panchayets to pass optional taxation resolutions and submit them for the sanction of Government. This will enable the Panchayets to enforce labour or an equivalent commuted money-payment from one and all, and thereby to command sufficient resources for pushing on with the work of Village Improvement.

I shall be glad if the suggestion is examined.

43) The proposal made at para 19 supra, is to amend section 37 of the V.P. Regn. so as to make weekly labour compulsory & levy of optional taxes (not exceeding four annas per day). At para 39 it was suggested that the amendment proposed may be circulated among the members of the Standing Committee for approval. In the Secretary's note dt 10.5.29 on the previous page it is now suggested that the best way of enforcing weekly labour is to get all Panchayets to pass resolutions for levy of optional taxes under section 37, & submit them to Govt for sanction. The amendment of the Regn. is not therefore necessary now.

44) In G.O. No. L 6303-12 V.P. 65-27-2 dt 28.3.29, Govt have already approved of the resolutions of certain Panchayets in the Malabal area to levy optional taxes of Rs. 4 per year. The purpose for the levy has not been mentioned

56) The imposition of optional taxes in village panchayats would necessitate compliance with weekly labour. Should any person choose not to pay the optional tax. Such weekly labour would partake of the character of voluntary labour. This is more advantageous than enforced labour if secured by Statute. Further this system of optional taxes would bring in more money to the Panchayats In these circumstances it would be better to insist upon the imposition of optional taxes. not clear whether the term "public purposes" as used in the convention will include duties purposes which a Village Panchayat has to perform at its discretion under section 69 of the V. P. Regn. The act to be done may be for the common good but it may not partake the nature of a public purpose. The functions to be performed by a Panchayat are distinguishable from those to be performed by the residents of a village in the matter of keeping watch in the chavadi without any payment under the Village Police rules. A detailed examination of the question in the light of the assurance given to the Govt of India in the matter of exacting compulsory labour appears necessary. In these circumstances, Govt are solicited as to whether the order made to effect the end may not be allowed for the present and the draft issued. The question may then be referred to the Law Dept for an expression of his views

It seems to me that the work done in connection with the Village Panchayat has to be considered as falling under the proviso. If this view is accepted, the payment I suppose will not be in accordance with the articles of Convention. This Branch has nothing to do with the determination of the question of Chavadi watch. This has come in from time immemorial and if this is considered as one coming under slavery, then the question to do public work in times of necessity under Criminal law may be considered as slavery also. These have to be considered as public duties also perhaps though no judgment will be made. If necessary the Law Dept may be consulted.

CHIEF SECRETARY,
11 DEC 1928

SIR,

In forwarding herewith copy of letter No.V.P.731-28-29 dated the 6th September 1928 from the Deputy Commissioner, Tumkur District, together with the enclosure received therewith re the contribution of weekly labour on Mondays in Beldhara Village Panchayet, Tumkur Taluk, I have the honour to state that the Deputy Commissioner has reported that the Village Panchayet of Beldhara have resolved that they would induce the people to contribute weekly labour on Mondays and that those who do not come and work must pay 4 annas per day. He requests that the sanction of Government may be obtained for the proposal under Section 37 of the Village Panchayet Regulation.

2. Section 37 lays down that a Panchayet may levy any tax, cess etc., for the discharge of any of its duties, provided that it is agreed to by 2/3rds of the members constituting the Panchayet and may commute the tax or cess etc., into a contribution of labour in the case of any person residing in the limits of the Panchayet, with his consent. The Deputy Commissioner's recommendation seeks sanction for enforcing contribution of weekly labour with option in special cases to change it into a rate of four annas per day at the option of the person concerned. Though this is very desirable in the interests of Village Improvement, it cannot be sanctioned under the existing provisions of Section 37. I therefore beg to suggest that steps may be taken to suitably amend the Section so as to make it possible to sanction proposals of the nature now submitted by the Deputy Commissioner.
